

SANI RESORT, GREECE

Blue sea and white sand aplenty are found on the gorgeous Kassandra Peninsula, where Sani's new three-bedroom family suites charm across the ages. Modern and fresh designs with marble bathrooms and all mod-cons, the suites sleep seven comfortably. Kids have access to two pools, and a 30-minute beach 'babe watch' allows parents to enjoy the tranquility of the resort with peace of mind. A private garden and expansive lounge are great for cooling kids down after playing.

Suites come with four hours' baby-sitting included each day, giving Mum and Dad time to head to the spanking-new couples' spa suite where they'll be the centre of attention. Family suites from £810, sani-resort.com

Looking for somewhere new to take everyone

Sleep

BEACHES TURKS AND CAICOS

Family fun in the sun abounds at this Sandals-run resort. For mini-mes, the Sesame Street programme will cause a stir as they bake with the Cookie Monster, munch breakfast with Elmo and go on a 'trash to treasure' creative play session lead by Oscar the Grouch. All ages can enjoy the offering, and those in double figures are catered for as much as the younger ones with tween spas, sailing, and outrageous waterparks. Kids' camps, hosted by certified nannies, mean that parents can indulge in their surroundings, sipping on cocktails by the pool, or diving in some of the world's clearest waters. All-inclusive rooms from £2,185pp, beachesresorts.co.uk

IL SALVIATINO, FLORENCE

Chic and kid-friendly, this sumptuous hotel ticks all the right boxes. Elegant interiors set the tone for a luxe retreat, and the Spa Il Salviatino drives it home, offering a range of treatments for adults and kids (ages six and up). The menu includes 'butter cuddles' massages to nourish young skin, mini-manis and teen facial treatments. Downtime for the whole clan awaits. Junior family suite from £355, salviatino.com